The Thigh Skin provides medical-grade compression to relieve pain and improve performance. The lightweight, breathable material allows perspiration to evaporate, keeping you cool and dry. The Ultima material has a SkinLok feature which activates with sweat or moisture and is designed to minimize migration of the sleeve, even during vigorous activity. The compression provided by the sleeve increases circulation, allowing more nutrient-rich blood to flow through the injured tissue during the healing process. Use the Thigh Skin while recovering from any quad or hamstring pain. Optional cinch wrap is available for more targeted compression.
